2007 National Youth Court Conference & The Official Launch of the National Association of Youth Courts

This outstanding national conference is designed to assist jurisdictions in developing, implementing and enhancing effective youth court programs.

Effective youth court programs (also called teen courts, student courts and peer courts) are unique to their communities but share the same three guiding principles: hold youth accountable for their delinquent and problem behavior, educate youth about the legal and judicial systems, and empower youth to be active in helping their communities problem-solve. Attend this national conference and learn how to plan and implement a youth court; educate new staff and stakeholders; enhance your existing program; and network with your peers from around the country.

MULTIPLE TRAINING TRACKS WITH SESSIONS TO INCLUDE:

- Program Planning & Community Mobilization
- Legal Issues in Youth, Teen, Student and Peer Courts
- Volunteer Training, Recruitment & Retention
- Strategies for Best Practice
- Funding: It's Not All About the Money
- Developing Your Community Service Component
- Defining Target Population and Referral Process
- Applying Restorative Justice Principles
- Planning for Program Evaluation and Data Collection

FEATURED SPEAKERS INCLUDE:

Keynote Speaker: J. Robert Flores, Administrator, Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention, U.S. Department of Justice, Washington, D.C.
